1 Establishment

- 1.1 The name of the party federally shall be “Australian Federation Party” and will not use an abbreviation.

In each State and Territory, the State or Territory name will be added at the end of the party name i.e. “Australian Federation Party (State or Territory name in full)” and will use the abbreviation/ballot paper name “Australian Federation Party (State or Territory abbreviation)” when registered with electoral authorities. Where a separate abbreviation/ballot paper name is not available or there are other restrictions that affect the full name being used, the abbreviation/ballot paper name can be used for both party name and abbreviation/ballot paper name. (also referred to in this constitution as “the party”).

- 1.2 If required, the federal name of the party may be changed to “Trumpet of Patriots” for the 2024/2025 federal election.
- 1.3 The party is a federation of State and Territory Divisions consisting of a State or Territory Division from at least one State or Territory (hereinafter collectively referred to as “State”) of the Commonwealth of Australia.
- 1.4 The members shall be persons who are entitled to vote at federal, state and territory elections who are also deemed by the party to identify with the principles, objectives and platform of the party. Non-voters can also be associate members.

2 Purpose & Objectives

- 2.1 To endorse candidates to contest Federal Parliamentary elections and Parliamentary or Local Government elections in the states of Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, Tasmania, South Australia, Western Australia and the Territories of Australian Capital Territory and the Northern Territory.
- 2.2 To propose, promote and support legislation which will support the following principles:

- a. Limited Government

The rightful functions of government are to guarantee individual freedom, property rights, internal order, a strong national defence, and the administration of justice.

The party supports the division of responsibilities between state and federal governments as prescribed in Australia’s constitution as the best means of preventing the concentration of power.

b. Personal Responsibility

Personal responsibility is central to the idea of a free society.

We believe that each individual is morally responsible for, and should bear responsibility for their actions.

The party recognises that the most effective form of government is self-government which requires the development in each person of the virtues of prudence, justice, fortitude, temperance, faith, hope, and charity.

c. Free Enterprise

The allocation of resources through voluntary agreement between individuals and businesses is the most productive and efficient supplier of human needs and is the economic system most compatible with a free society.

In recognising that successive generations are stewards of great riches, both natural and cultural, material and spiritual, the party acknowledges that market relations alone do not guarantee the common good.

d. Civil Society

The values, customs, conventions, and norms of the founding traditions are the foundation for western culture and provide the appropriate framework to inform and guide a free society. Without adherence to these enduring structures and an associated rejection of moral relativism, society induces its decay.

Central to this is recognition of the importance of the natural family as the best possible institution for the nurturing and development of future generations and its role as the foundation of society. Respect for life is pivotal in understanding the promotion of human rights and the recognition by science of the presence of human life.

e. Further Objectives

The party may develop and maintain a mission statement and additional purpose and objectives, which are to be posted on its website.
